10 INJECTABLE MICROFOAM CONTAINING A SCLEROSING AGENT

Abstract of the Disclosure Injectable microfoam for sclerotherapy. The sclerotherapy of varices is based on the injection of liquid 15 substances capable of suppressing them. The present invention relates to the preparation of sclerosing substances in the form of a microfoam. The microfoam is prepared with sclerosing agents, and is then injected in the vein to be treated, so that the microfoam displaces the blood contained in the vein and 20 provides for the contact of the sclerosing agent with the vascular endothelium, with a predetermined known concentration and during a controllable time.
